Lot

Definition of your homes sides- Front-is the part that is closest to the parking area. Back-is where your back door is. The end of your home is the area farthest from the parking.

Lots at The Shores vary in size and lines. In general the width of your lot extends 5 feet out from the side of your home where the backdoor is. This gives you the required fire exit from your home and allows for maintenance for that part of your home. All other activity should take place in your front yard on the entry side of your home. This makes everyone's front yard private and separate. Your front yard extends to within 5 feet of the next home. Rent varies based on the location and size of your lot. You select and contract for your own utilities.

Utilities

The Shores does not provided any utilities. Vendors can be contacted through the available listing on our phone list (above).
